Hi Sherry,

I did include the carpet, which is one of many that you can choose. I took a middle of the road cost of the carpet for your estimate. And yes, the cost would be different if we didn't need to remove and dispose of the current carpet. All I did was an estimate of what we can do to make the new flooring pretty! LOL

So, if you want to do the prep, then remove the carpet, the adhesive and the covebase. And on commercial jobs, all furniture must be off the areas before we arrive. And you can save more money if you have someone else install the new covebase.

I will be available when you have more questions.

Hi Le Elda,

Thank you for sending this over. Does this include the cost for carpet? Would the price be different if we removed the existing carpet ourselves?

Just looking at ways we could save a little money so we can budget.

HI Sherry,

An estimate to replace the flooring for 2850 sf is around $19,000-$20,000.

There is usually a lot of hours of prep work to be done. I hope this helps.
